This form gives you space to describe work and volunteer experience in more detail than the application allows. It asks for résumé-style details about each position, but it is not a résumé; please do not attach one. Experience reported here is considered as part of the holistic review of your application.

Instructions

- Consider positions in which you worked directly with children or adults in education, health care, developmental, behavioral, rehabilitation, or language-access settings. Examples include teacher, paraprofessional, early intervention or developmental specialist, registered behavior technician (RBT) or ABA therapist, speech-language pathology assistant, translator or interpreter, research assistant, rehabilitation aide, nurse or CNA, childcare or eldercare provider, and other closely related roles.
- Paid and volunteer experience count equally. Hours from more than one position may be added together.
- Which positions to list: any position with at least 20 total hours, most relevant first. If you have more than four, list the four most relevant.
- Estimating hours: multiply your average hours per week by the number of weeks worked. As a guide, 10 hours per week for one 15-week semester is about 150 hours, and full-time work for one year is about 2,000 hours.
- Keep it brief: a few words or one to two lines per field is enough.
