Who can serve as recommenders?

- At least one recommender MUST be a professor or clinical faculty member from a speech and hearing sciences or communication sciences disorders department. This should be someone you have taken classes with or have worked with in other capacities (e.g., clinic, research, student organization).

- One other recommender MUST be either
  - a professor or a clinical faculty member from any department OR
  - a supervisor/mentor from SLP or a related field who can evaluate your clinical potential. Do NOT choose people such as a family member, parent of a child you babysit, coach, or a former patient.

How do recommenders submit letters?

- Requests for letters of recommendation are sent directly by email from the UNM graduate application site after you submit the name and contact information of your recommenders
  - You can submit recommender information prior to submitting your entire application and fees
  - It is STRONGLY recommended you fill out all possible information pieces for each recommender (e.g., their position, phone # etc.) in the online system
  - Professors typically prefer that you waive your right to view letters
  - The system will send you a notification when your letters have been submitted
    - It is ok (and often helpful) to send reminders to professors

How can I request letters from UNM SHS faculty?

- Contact professors by the third Monday in November to ask if they are willing to recommend you
  - At a minimum your request must include:
    - A list of schools you are applying to with deadlines
    - Courses you’ve taken with the faculty member or how you know the faculty member
  - Strongly suggested: contact professors early, come to office hours, or set up a time to discuss your interests and get to know professors

- Send letter of recommendation packet with the following documents to recommending faculty by December 15th (* or by December 1st if you have any letters due December 15th*)
  - Letter of recommendation template
  - Permission to Release Educational Records for Letters of Recommendation
  - Unofficial transcript
  - Resume

How should I request other recommendations?

- Non-UNM students: follow any instructions your institution provides for requesting letters

- Choose professors who can write more about you than just “they got an A in my class” (build relationships by asking questions, going to office hours etc.), and if you have been out of school a while, contact professors to set up a meeting.

- Provide clinical recommenders with resumes, suggestions for information to include in a letter (e.g., how you work with clients or students, how you collaborate with others etc.) and set up meetings to discuss your interests in a speech and hearing program with them
